

Spending Pocket Money

Many students have pocket money. How do they spend it?

Some students save their pocket money so that they can spend it in the future but some of them spend it right after they received it. Let's look deeply on how students spend their pocket money.

First of all, some students spend their pocket money for their studies especially in the beginning of a school term. This is because when a school term starts, students need to buy books such as storybooks, exercise books and textbooks. Also, they may need to buy things like stationery, a new school bag and uniform.

However, not all students spend their money on their studies. Some of them spend their money on games and their hobbies. Many students like playing online games and computer games. For students who enjoy playing these games, they usually spend a lot of money on buying electronic games.

Furthermore, there are students who like to spend their money on food and drinks. For example, students who love eating fast food or snacks will spend their money on buying food or drinks they like the most.

To conclude, although students may not have a lot of pocket money, I think they should save some of it. It is because if they always spend all their pocket money, they will have a bad habit on buying things that they actually do not need.
