My wonderful field trip

During my school holiday, my classmates and I had a field trip in Fanling. We went there by school bus at 9 o'clock in the morning. We were as happy as pigs in the mud.

The staff, my classmates and I looked at the tomatoes and lettuce. We were very excited.

Five minutes later, we wanted to paint the stones. The staff said, "We paint a picture on the stones. I drew a big house. Tammy's picture was also beautiful. Her painting was as beautiful as a rainbow."

Then we picked the tomatoes and lettuce. We planted the fruit trees and used the watering can to water the fruit trees. But I saw wild pigs chasing us. My classmates were shouting loudly. "Oh! No! A big wild pig!" shouted the teacher. I asked the staff and teacher for help. "Run! Run to the painting room and close the door!" screamed Miss Lo. At last, the staff caught the wild pigs. "Good job!" said us.

In the evening, we were tired. We went back to school with two big bags of large tomatoes. We were like a dog with two tails.

My wonderful field trip

Weather: Sunny

Today was my best day, because I went to Fanling! Everyday was excited! 'Ah! I can't wait!' said Ben.

After a while, I arrived at Fanling. The staff took me to the fields. There were tomatoes, potatoes, lettuce. We were over the moon.

The staff taught us how to draw on a stone. I drew my friend, Tony's face. It was wonderful.

When I watered the plants, some wild pigs ran out. 'Oh! The wild pigs!' we shouted loudly. A brave staff fought with the pig.

The pig had gone, but he was bleeding. 'Oh! That was scary!' the girls screamed.

In the end, everybody praised the strong staff. He was my hero.

After the trip, we learnt not to be afraid of wild animals.
